INTRODUCTION

The GNRM-UT activity is held so that the community as the target or the lecturers who carry it out know more about the character of their nation, namely the Indonesian nation which has cultural diversity. Inevitably, the culture of foreign nations is increasingly free to enter Indonesia, both in positive and negative values. Therefore, the role of society is needed to realize that people must be aware of the character and culture of Indonesia. This is the duty of the government and the youth who will become the nation's successor.

Mental revolution must start from education, given the very strategic role of education in shaping the mentality of the nation's children. The development of culture and national character is manifested through the realm of education (Mansur, 2017; Sutardi, Dihamri, & Silaban, 2018). In the short term, the internalization process of mental revolution values is carried out through various activities such as (1) socializing the values of mental revolution through meetings; (2) creating a mental revolution tagline in various spaces in the form of a short phrase with a solid and easy to remember message; and (3) create or provide role models to be imitated and become role models for the community (Haris, 2017; Hidayat, 2019). These customs contain values that grow and develop into local wisdom (Rubini, 2019; Yunaz, 2019). Bung Hatta stated that what was taught in the educational process was culture, while education itself was the process of culture (Kristiawan, 2016; Putro, 2020; Sholekhah, 2019). Therefore, if the mental revolutionary movement is seen as an educational process, then that process must originate and strive to develop local cultural values.

The problems of the 2020 Open University National Mental Revolution Movement are:

1. How to build national character values that support the Mental Revolutionary National Movement in the community of Carita District, Pandeglang Regency, Banten Province.
2. How local wisdom supports the National Mental Revolution Movement in the community of Carita District, Pandeglang Regency, Banten Province.

The forms of activities held are:

1. The workshop was themed "Implementation of Building National Character Values that Support Mental Revolutionary National Movement in the Community of Carita District, Pandeglang Regency, Banten Province".
2. The workshop was themed "Local Wisdom Supports Mental Revolutionary National Movement in the Community of Carita District, Pandeglang Regency, Banten Province".

The Mental Revolution Movement is a movement that seeks to involve all elements of society to instil the values of the Indonesian nation as a whole and purely to create prosperity and order for the Indonesian people. Budimanta (2015) states that there are three values in the National Mental Revolution Movement, namely: 1) Integrity (honesty, trustworthiness, character, responsibility); 2) Work ethic (competitive, optimistic, innovative and productive); 3) cooperation (cooperation, solidarity, oriented to benefit).

Hopefully, these existing values can grow and return to take root in the souls of the people of Carita District, Pandeglang Regency, Banten Province in the face of the industrial era 4.0. The Open University National Mental Revolution Movement emphasizes the formation of the character of the people of Carita District as a harmonious and harmonious Indonesian identity that can be carried out in everyday life.

METHODOLOGY

The workshop method used is; 1) The lecture method, the resource person provides an understanding and explanation of the fostering of character values and local wisdom of the Carita community; 2) Question and answer method, participants conduct a question and answer session related to material that they feel is less understood and clear.
