Education is a form of social engineering in a society that aims to instill certain desired values. Apart from that, it is also stated that education is a process in shaping humans to have a level of humanity (humanization) (Kuliyatun, 2020). According to Ikhsan, a simpler definition of value is that value is a reference and belief in making choices. The statement shows that values are principles that guide a person's behavior and decisions (Ikhsan, M., & Sunaryo, U, 2023). These values form the moral and ethical foundation of individuals in interacting with the surrounding environment. In other words, values influence the way individuals choose actions that are considered good or bad, right or wrong in various life situations.

Currently, the strengthening of character values in formal educational institutions has decreased, in fact many educational institutions do not implement the cultivation of character values in their educational institutions, whether in the teaching and learning process or in habits, example and commitment. This can be proven by the widespread issue of the decline in moral values among young Indonesians which is caused by a crisis of morality and intellectuality at an alarming level. Starting from the many brawls between students which cause victims and damage the environment, immoral acts against other students, abuse of students against educators, and so on (Mumtaz, Y., 2021).

According to the Sigit (Ginting, 2024), character education is the education of values, manners, morals and character, which aims to develop students' ability to make good decisions and realize that goodness in everyday life wholeheartedly. The government through the Ministry of Education and Culture in 2016 rolled out Strengthening Character Education (PPK) (Kemendikbud RI., 2017). Furthermore, in accordance with Presidential Regulation Number 87 of 2017, all schools in Indonesia must implement PPK or strengthening character education. In Presidential Decree no. 87 of 2017 article 3 Character education in educational units has been identified into 18 values originating from Pancasila, religion, social and educational goals. Among them are religious, honest, tolerant, disciplined, hardworking, creative, independent, Strengthening Character Education (PPK) in Pancasila contains five main character values, namely religion, nationalism, integrity, independence and mutual cooperation. These character values are holistically interrelated and complement each other in the context of character formation and the realization of noble values in a person. These five character values are a dynamic synergy and still lead to forming a complete person (Kemendiknas., 2020).

The position of ulama for the Banjar people is closely related to the cultural roots of the Banjar people, known as a society that strongly adheres to the Islamic religion. Their role is very visible as gatekeepers of religion, code of conduct followed by the surrounding community, teachers of the Koran and as rich people who do not hesitate to spend their wealth for the benefit of the people. From things that are routine in society, all cultural values, social aspects, implementation of livelihoods, to political aspects of society will form the ideology of Banjar society which is based on Islam.

From a short biography of K.H. Abdul Syukur has characters that can be used to strengthen character education today, especially for students at school level. Biographical values of K.H. Abdul Syukur can be used as a social studies learning resource in terms of strengthening character education, because he is a charismatic scholar, loved and respected by students and the community, so it is very important to present research on the character and example of K.H. Abdul Syukur, so that people can use him as a role model in their daily lives, is very important because the current reality is that they are starting to lose figures who are role models.

On the other hand, there has been much research on character values in the biographies of ulama. Such as research by Ersis Warmansyah Abbas on Banjar Society and Culture as a Source of Social Science Learning; Transformation of Banjar Cultural Values Through the Teachings and Methods of Sekumpul Teachers, research from Bambang Subiyakto on Sheikh Muhammad Arsyad Al-Banjari: Efforts and Teachings of Character Values in Social Sciences Education, and research from Dian Surya Nugraha About Social Values in Zainal Ilmi's Biography as a Social Sciences Learning Resource. However, as far as the researchers have searched the literature, there has been no research that specifically examines the biographical character values of ulama as strengthening character education in social studies learning (Abbas, 2013; Nugraha, D. S., 2019; Subiyakto, 2015). Previous research discussed more about the figure's Islamic educational thoughts, charisma, biography of the ulama, as well as the learning methods applied by the ulama, the efforts and teachings of the ulama in social studies learning.

In contrast to the previous research mentioned above, this research provides information that the values of the ulama are very important to be applied to students, especially to strengthen character education in social studies learning. Applying these values also needs to be familiarized and instilled from childhood and especially for educators, it can also be used as a learning resource in social studies lessons. This research aims to explore the character values contained in the biography of K.H. Abdul Syukur and how these values can be integrated into social studies learning. In addition, this research also aims to strengthen character education in social studies learning by utilizing the values contained in the biography of the cleric. Through the exploration of the character values of scholars, it is expected to make a positive contribution to the character building of students and enrich the social studies learning process with relevant and inspiring values.

Apart from the administrative area of Banjar Regency, researchers also conducted research specifically through interview and observation techniques at MTsN 6 Banjar as well as several organizational offices within the relevant Banjar Regency Government which are also related to this research.

Data collection was carried out in research on the biographical character values of K.H. Abdul Syukur as a social study learning resource to strengthen character education (PPK) directly by researchers in real situations. The data collection technique used in this research is in-depth interview data relating to the required data, observation and documentation relating to the biography, character values and biographical values of K.H. Finally, the research culminated in the stage of conclusion and verification, representing the final phase of the analytical process. Here, a concise and easily understandable statement was formulated, drawing upon the insights gained from the presented data and aligning with the core issues addressed throughout the study.

From the table above, school activities can ensure that the character education process must involve students actively in daily life at school, especially in learning activities. In this character education, the learning process plays an important role because it is required that in every step of the teaching and learning process, character values arise that must be instilled in students. This can be done by starting the learning activity with an introduction to the values that will be developed during the learning process.

This is done without the teacher having to tell students that they must be active, but the teacher must plan learning activities to cause students to be active, for example by conditioning students to formulate and ask questions, express opinions with polite words and sentences, look for sources of information, and collecting information from various sources, processing information that is already available, reconstructing data, facts or values, presenting the results... of the reconstruction or value development process, cultivating cultural values and character in the learning that occurs in the classroom, school and assignments in outside of school (Kemendiknas, 2010).
